

Surgical Solutions and SteelcoBelimed Form Strategic Partnership

Working Together to Deliver Comprehensive, Consultative Sterile Processing and Instrument Management Solutions for Hospitals

[Overland Park, Kansas; August 26, 2025] – Surgical Solutions, a leader in on-site surgical support services, and SteelcoBelimed, a global provider of sterile processing solutions, are proud to announce a new strategic partnership aimed at delivering holistic support for hospitals, ambulatory surgery centers (ASCs), and healthcare facilities across the U.S.

The collaboration will focus on enhancing sterile processing departments (SPDs) and operating room (OR) workflows by combining SteelcoBelimed’s state-of-the-art equipment with Surgical Solutions’ flexible service models and deep clinical expertise. Together, the companies will drive a measurable impact on key areas such as infection prevention, quality control, staff training, productivity, and capital efficiency.

“This partnership enables us to deliver a more complete solution to our customers by helping them stay ahead of challenges in staffing, compliance, and equipment lifecycle management,” said Kirk Leonardelli, CEO at Surgical Solutions.

“By partnering with Surgical Solutions, we can pair our technology and service with expert frontline support. Together, we offer our healthcare customers a more seamless, scalable way to improve sterile processing operations. This partnership also aims to help solve the unique needs of the ASC market as it combines the power of our equipment and service with Surgical Solutions’ staffing and operational support,” said Dustin Dzwonkowski, CEO at SteelcoBelimed.

The partnership reflects a shared commitment to empowering clinical teams, supporting evolving healthcare environments, and delivering smarter solutions to better meet customer needs. Customers and industry professionals are encouraged to reach out to their local representatives or visit the companies’ websites for more information.

“We are thrilled to partner with a company that truly understands the complexities and customer needs of sterile processing,” said Benjamin Schraeder, SVP of Transformation & Strategy, and key driver of this new partnership.

“This collaboration represents a powerful opportunity to enhance outcomes, streamline operations, and ultimately improve the lives of those we serve.”

Both companies are collaborating on rollout efforts, including team training, aligned customer outreach, and a unified presence at key industry events. The shared goal is to provide our clients with expanded access to integrated solutions by combining best-in-class equipment and expert services to help hospitals strengthen sterile processing departments and drive better outcomes.
